Letter from the editor-in-chief of the Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences to colleagues, researchers, and readers

Dear Readers,

With great pleasure and excitement,

I welcome you to the first issue of the Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences. As the editor-in-chief, I am honored to introduce this platform dedicated to advancing knowledge and innovation in medicine, oral science, and biosciences.

Our journal aims to serve as a forum for researchers, clinicians, educators, and students to disseminate their work, exchange ideas, and contribute to advancing medical and oral biosciences. We are committed to publishing high-quality, peer-reviewed articles covering various topics, including basic science, clinical research, translational studies, and dental practice.

At the Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences, we endorse the highest scientific integrity and ethical conduct standards. Our editorial team comprises experts from diverse disciplines keen to ensure the rigor and credibility of the published research. We adhere to the principles of transparency, objectivity, and fairness in the peer review process, providing authors with constructive feedback to enhance the quality of their work.

The Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences launch and recognize the importance of collaboration and partnership within the medical and dental communities. Therefore, reviews, original research articles, case study and perspectives are welcome from researchers and practitioners worldwide to our journal. Through collective efforts, we can contribute to advancing knowledge and improving healthcare outcomes globally.

I sincerely thank the authors, reviewers, editorial board members, and staff who have contributed to the launch of the Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences. Dedication and encouragement are instrumental in fulfilling our mission to promote excellence in medical and dental research and education.

Please explore our introductory issue and join us in our commitment to advancing the Journal of Medical and Oral Biosciences.

Together, we can make a meaningful influence and development of well-being and health of person and population worldwide.

Thank you for your interest and support.

Sincerely,

Editor-in-Chief
